HALF-MILLION FOR HARBOR WORK

The entrance channel, through a coral reef, and the harbor proper, were dredged from time to time by the monarchial, republican, and territorial governments of Hawaii prior to July 1, 1904. On this date there existed an entrance channel having a minimum width of about 200 feet and a depth of about 35 feet at mean low water. The harbor proper had a general width of 900 feet. The water for about 200 feet immediately along the wharves had a depth of from 30 to 32 feet. Elsewhere there was only about 27 feet at low water. The bend at the lighthouse point was so sharp as to make it somewhat difficult for large vessels to make the turn.

"Work on the present project was begun under an appropriation by the river and harbor act of March 3, 1905, in accordance with a general plan printed in the annual report of the chief of engineers for 1905, page 2564, but the project as specifically adopted by the river and harbor act of March 2, 1907, is printed in house document No. 332, fifty-ninth congress, second session. It provides for an entrance channel 400 feet wide and 35 feet deep at mean low water from deep water at the entrance to the lighthouse point, for easing the curve at the junction of the entrance channel and the inner harbor by cutting off the lighthouse point, and for enlarging the harbor proper so that it will have a general width of 1200 feet and a depth of 35 feet at mean low water, at an estimated cost of $1,628,894.60.

"Between March 3, 1905, and May 27, 1908, $300,000 have been appropriated for work under the approved project, or about 49 per cent of the estimated cost of work under that project.

"Work under the above appropriations was stopped by practical exhaustion of funds, on December 15, 1908. The following has been accomplished:

"Dredging entrance channel, removing lighthouse point, and the partial widening of the harbor proper. All this dredging was to a depth of 35 feet at mean low water, a total of 1,910,023 cubic yards having been excavated. The completion of the adopted project is urgently required by commercial interests.

"On June 30, 1909, the sum of $794,838.79 had been expended, no part of which was for maintenance.

"From July 1, 1908, to the cessation of work on December 15, 1908, 208,106 cubic yards of material were removed from the harbor and deposited on shore. A careful survey was later made of the condition of the harbor. This survey showed shoaling to have taken place at the following points: A general shoaling throughout the entrance channel; a noticeable shoaling in the Nuuanu slip at the head of the harbor; a slight shoaling in front of the wharves of the naval station, and very slight shoaling in a few other localities.

"The approved project is about 49 per cent completed. On June 30, 1909, there was a minimum depth in the entrance channel of about 33 feet; within the harbor proper there was, outside of harbor lines, a general depth of 35 feet. The normal tidal oscillation is about 2 feet. The head of navigation is the head of the harbor, about 2 miles from the lighthouse department buoys marking the entrance to the harbor.

"The commerce between this port and ports not in the Hawaiian Islands, for the calendar year 1908, amounted to approximately 600,000 tons, valued at $41,562,840. The commerce with other ports of the Hawaiian Islands amounted to 320,158 tons, valued at about $22,000,000.

"What effect the improvement of the harbor has had upon freight rates can not be stated, but vessels are now able to enter and leave the harbor with their full load draft.

"Should additional appropriations be made for this harbor, it is proposed to expend the funds in widening the harbor in pursuance with the approved project, so as to make it possible for vessels to enter and leave at all hours of the day and night, instead of by daylight only, as at present.

a. In addition to this balance the sum of $25,000 was made available by the river and harbor act of last March. The operations for the improvement of Hilo harbor by the construction of a breakwater are covered in the report. "Hilo Bay" says the report, "is practically a deep open roadstead, protected to a limited extent by Blonde reef, but otherwise exposed through the angle formed by lines drawn from Hilo town to Kanaha and Keokea points—that is, from about north to north 74 deg. east (magnetic). Strong northeasterly trade winds prevail most of the time. These winds cause a choppy sea outside of Hilo Bay and considerable swell in the bay, which at times makes it unsafe for ships to lie at the existing wharves and renders loading and unloading in the bay difficult. The heaviest seas, however, come from the north during northerly and northwesterly storms, and during this weather it is often impossible for ships to lie at the wharves or even work in the bay.

"The present project, adopted by congress March 2, 1907, consists in constructing a rubble mound breakwater along Blonde reef to a point on shore about 6000 feet east of Coconut Island, at an estimated cost of $1,700,000.

"As authorized by the act of March 2, 1907, the project as originally stated in the above-mentioned house document has been modified in a manner recommended on page 16 of the house document by the elimination of the third, or shore, arm of the breakwater and the extension of the middle arm of the breakwater to the shore.

"Between March 2, 1907, and March 4, 1909, $400,000 has been appropriated for work under the approved project, or about 23 per cent of the estimated cost of the work under that project. Under a continuing contract, the actual construction of the breakwater was commenced on September 12, 1908, and on June 30, 1909, a total of 31,507 tons had been placed, making a total of 766 feet of completed breakwater.

"On June 30, 1909, the sum of $71,000.86 had been expended, all on the present project, and no part being for maintenance.

"The approved project is about 4 per cent, completed.

"The commerce of this port for the calendar year 1908 was valued at more than $16,000,000, and amounted to more than 184,000 tons.

"Work on this improvement has not been carried far enough to have any effect on freight rates.

"It is proposed to apply the amount estimated as a profitable expenditure in the fiscal year 1911 to continuing the work of constructing the breakwater. The additional work proposed is necessary to make the improvement available.

Immigration Inspector Raymond C. Brown has received a cable from Washington instructing him to extend every courtesy to the new Chinese Minister to Washington when the latter arrives here.

Attorney A. D. Larnach was yesterday appointed by Judge De Bolt to defend Kanagawa, the Japanese who cut the throat of Reyo, the house servant of Judge Lindsay, a few weeks ago.

The property owned by St. Clement's chapel is not valued at $100,000, as was inadvertently stated a few days ago. The articles of incorporation give the church the right to own property to the value of $100,000.

Judge Robinson yesterday approved the second annual accounts of George P. Merriek, guardian of C. W. Case Deering, "a spendthrift." The guardian charges himself with receipts of $22,213.84, and asks to be allowed $21,115 for money expended.

The executive committee of the bar association met yesterday, organized, and adjourned until next Wednesday in order that the names of those applicants for the vacancy that will be created by the resignation of Justice Wilder from the supreme bench may be presented. No business outside of organization was considered and the name of Judge De Bolt was not discussed.

Two of the three Japanese convicted in the United States court of conspiracy in selling a Japanese woman named Matsuo to a man who claimed to love her, were let down easy by Judge Woodruff. They were fined respectively $25 and $40 and sentenced to one hour's imprisonment. The sentence first passed upon Hoshi, the girl's father, of one year and $1000 fine, was reduced, the fine being remitted.
